St. Louis makes a mighty fuss about her Veiled Prophets. Pah! "veiled profits" occur in Saline every day: every investment we make has its profits veiled in such "obscurity" they are wholly invisible.—Miami Index.

Waists were made to hug,
Tongues were made to tune,
Arms were made to circle the girls,
And lovers were made to spoon.

Eyelids were made to droop,
Cheeks were made to blush,
Hair was made to curl and friz,
And lips were made—oh, hush.

Capt. Jim Wallace, of Keytesville, has been "shying" around town for several days past, with a broad grin that familiar may of his, which led his friends to suspect he had a big case on hand and a rich client, but a reporter has ascertained that it is a "small" case and the client of the feminine gender. We extend congratulations, friend James.—Fayette Advertiser.

The cars on the new road reached Marshall Monday of last week, and of course every body was filled with joy. A large crowd felt so good they concluded to take a fine ride. They accordingly boarded the construction train, were run down to Slater, twelve miles, side-tracked, and left to walk home. They didn't get back as quick as they went down, but saw more of the country.

The 24 volumes of encyclopedia contributed by Mr. D. B. Kellogg to the Keytesville Library, were delivered to the librarian last week and are now ready for use by all the members. These volumes contain a vast variety and amount of information and all unite in kindly expressions to Mr. K. for his liberality, this being in addition to the $25 already paid by him.

Those whole-souled fellows, Ricob & Veatch, will please accept our thanks for a lot of nice beef steak as it has been over our pleasure to taste a dish of fresh sausage, which, we think, was as nicely seasoned as any we ever saw. There is nothing for which a printer feels more sincerely thankful than something good to eat. By the way, we would inform the public that these gentlemen keep a supply of the choicest fresh meats on hand, and are ever ready to wait on customers.

Our old-time friend, Geo. D. Eastin, editor of the Glasgow Journal, had his watch and some wearing apparel stolen from him one night last week. The watch was an Elgin, in heavy silver hunting case, engraved on inside, we believe, "To G. D. Eastin, by his father and mother, Glasgow, Mo., April 1873." We can sympathize with you, "Easty," having been there, and we never got our watch back, either, but hope you may.

Judge E. J. Brannan, the Greenback Labor party's candidate for congress in this, the 10th congressional district of Missouri, will address the citizens of Chariton county at the following times and places, to-wit:

Salisbury, October 28th, 10 a. m.
Keytesville, October 28th, 7 p. m.
Potosi, October 29th, 10 a. m.
Newburg, October 30th, 10 a. m.
Cunningham, October 30th, 7 p. m.

By order of the Greenback county committee.
A. G. BROOKS, Chairman.

Mr. T. J. Puckett and wife, of McClainsburg, Ill., arrived in this city Wednesday evening, and visited the family of D. Overstreet, and will remain here about two weeks. Mrs. P. is Mr. O's. eldest sister and this is the first time they have seen each other for eight years. Mr. Puckett is at present in the livery business and is thinking of moving out here. We believe a livery stable properly managed would pay in Keytesville, and we are sure our people would gladly welcome Mr. Puckett among us.

The literary society of O. A. O. met at the rooms of R. W. Goldsby, at Mr. Wheeler's, on Wednesday evening. There was a full attendance and a most enjoyable evening. On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, the same society met at Mr. Miller's. A programme is made out and parts assigned for an agreeable time. Any of the young men or ladies who will take enough interest to apply may become members, and it is hoped that many more will, as the meetings are all entertaining and instructive.

Mr. Noah Dean, the Greenback candidate for Representative, and Mr. W. H. Bradley, Greenback candidate for Prosecuting attorney for Chariton county, addressed a small audience at the court house on last Thursday night. The meeting was not sufficiently advertised or there might have been a larger attendance. Many of our citizens did not know of the meeting until it was announced on our streets after dark. The gentlemen were given a patient and respectful hearing, and all parties went home feeling satisfied with the results—we guess.

The protracted meeting at New Hope church, which has been in progress for several weeks, still continues, under the direction of their pastor, Rev. Terrell, and the Rev. Painter (the latter of Howard county) with interest unabated. Their Sunday congregations are immense, many going from Keytesville, Salisbury and miles in every direction. Quite a number are already added to the church, and many more who profess hope in Christ. This is one of the most pleasant parts of our country, and we hope the good work goes on.

Our colored friends out about two miles east of Keytesville are having a grand fish fry, picnic and dinner in that neighborhood to-day. Twenty-five cents will be charged for dinner. The object is to raise money to build a school house and church. The effort is most commendable, and we hope the citizens will give them substantial encouragement. It seems to us that the school house ought to be built by the district, but we understand that there is money on hand to employ a teacher, but not sufficient to build. There are about 20 colored school children in the district, and they ought to be afforded an opportunity of attending a good school.

A sad accident occurred, resulting in the death of a little boy about ten years old, a few days ago. A family by the name of Dunkle had recently moved on the place of Mr. Yancy. The little fellow was out some distance from the house, and in passing round the horses was kicked, rather on the nose of the side and under the direction of one of them. The child got up, but said he thought he could not walk home. A young Mr. Yancy who was present took him on his horse and started for the house, but before reaching there the little fellow was unconscious, and soon died from the injuries. Parents cannot be too cautious in warning their children of such dangers and should add to this a constant watchfulness, though in this case no neglect is to be imputed to any one.

Improvements are going on in our little village. Amongst them is a new building of some description going up immediately west of, and adjoining our city calaboose. Some say it is a work shop, probably to give employment to the occasional boarders at the next door. Others claim that it is a stable for those who get in the lun adjoining. This is more in keeping with the philanthropic spirit of the times. There is a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, you know, and it has been the custom of our city dogs to take hazardous chances on a prosecution for damages by the society, in playing the "free and easy" in the "fun" of "forensics," and leaving their horses tied to a post exposed to the weather. This is now to be remedied. It is suggested that the building if a stable is for the best of the two, and the offenders should be put in its stalls and their horses in the calaboose; but those who ask this are simply not acquainted with the humane requirements of modern sentiment, for while there is a "society for the prevention of cruelty to animals," there is none for the prevention of cruelty to man. So the preference must be given to the intelligent horse as no harm can come from neglect to his master.

To Grangers.
The stockholders in the Keytesville Tobacco Warehouse Company will take notice that a meeting will be held at Potosi, Grange hall, on the 3d Saturday in November next at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of disposing of their property.

G. G. DAMERON.

We visited the jail at this place Thursday morning, and took a look at the apartments. There are three men confined there now, two colored men—one charged with grand larceny, the other with fighting a woman. It was most first visit to the building, and we were a little surprised to find it so systematically, and securely arranged. Since Sheriff B. B. Davis has had charge of the jail, we believe no prisoner has ever escaped. The jailor, Mr. James Fawkes, keeps everything connected with the jail in tip-top order, and while he is firm and positive with prisoners, and makes them know their place, he always treats them kindly. The jail is one of the best in the state, and under the management of Sheriff Davis, and Mr. Fawkes, the entire premises are kept in first-class order. Our people, when they lie down to sleep at night, can rest assured that while the jail remains under the control of Sheriff Davis, persons will find their way out of the cells and go at large.

From all parts of the country reports come of the immense sales and increasing demand for that deservingly popular Sewing machine, The Old Reliable "Standard," the price of which the proprietors wisely reduced to $20, including all the attachments, and at once secured for them a popularity among the people far beyond that ever yet attained by any other machine at any price, the consequence of which is, agents are leaving the old high priced machines, and seeking territory for the "Standard." Knowing from experience that with the best goods at the lowest price they can outsell all other machines, where the superior quality and low price is made known. This splendid machine combines all the improvements. Is far ahead of all others in beauty and durability of its work, ease of management, light running and certain of operation, is sensibly made upon principles, with positive working points all steel, and can be safely put down as the very perfection of a serviceable Sewing Machine, in every particular, that will outlast any machine, and at a price far down below any other. It is thoroughly warranted for five years. Kept in order free of charge. And sent to any part of the country for examination by the customer before payment of the bill. We can predict equally as large a demand for them in this section as in others. Families desiring the best machine manufactured should write direct to the factory. And enterprising persons wishing to seize the chance should apply for so desirable an agency. See advertisement in another part of this paper.

In our notice of the fair last week we omitted to say anything about the fine collection of wild animals which Mr. Hill had gathered up from various portions of the country and placed on exhibition fair week. Among other things there was a large, well grown black bear, a full grown fox, a wolf, a full grown wild deer and an antelope; all purchased and shipped to him from parties in the far west. An alligator from the south, two genuine Shetland ponies, full grown, though quite small. Among the birds there were given a patient number of curious, though most of the collection was made up of birds, caught by parties in our own county, such as owls of all sizes and species, hawks, wild geese and many other birds the names of which we failed to give. In a quiet department to himself was a genuine specimen of the old fashion, native raccoon, while near him, in a larger cage, a collection of wild squirrels cutting all sorts of shins, and beating the little boys out of all the nuts, and candies they would stick at. A show case was set to themselves lay two large native black snakes, alive and wide awake to everything going on around them. After the fair all the animals were moved up to town, where they can be seen any day free of charge. We understand that Mr. Hill has sold the entire collection to some gentleman in Chicago, where they will be shipped at an early day. This collection of animals has been wonderfully interesting to the little folks, and not altogether void of interest to the older ones. Mr. Hill deserves credit for the energy displayed by him in his efforts to keep up a county fair. And in spite of the complaints and growls of a few constitutional grumblers, it is generally conceded that our recent fair was one of the best we ever had. There was abundance of good stock shown, large crowds in attendance, and it was a matter of special remark that there was better order than has ever had at any fair in this county. Whether it was the effects of the hard times and scarcity of money, or the benign influence of the Murphy ideas abroad in the land, or both together, we are unable to say, but we do know that there was less dissipation on the fair grounds this year than at any previous time.

Dalton Facts.

On the 15th inst, the colored people assembled in Dalton, from far and near, to hear Hon. J. Milton Turner's views on the great financial question. It was intended by the committee that the speaking should be out in the grove just east of town, but on account of the breeze the speaker said it was impossible for him to speak out of doors, and the tobacco factory of J. B. Hyde was procured, that being the only building that would accommodate so large an audience. One of the committee nominated J. J. Heisel, of Brunswick, as chairman of the meeting, who was elected, and after thanking the audience for the honor conferred on him, introduced J. W. Wilson, editor of the St. Louis Tribune. The language of this speaker amounted to very little. He told the audience that speaking was out of his line of business, and then proceeded to chastise the Greenback party. He seemed to be at a loss what to do with his hands and feet, and after occupying a long time saying a great deal of nothing took his seat. The chairman next introduced Hon. J. Milton Turner, who proceeded in an intelligent and dignified manner to tell the colored voters what course they should pursue in the coming election. He logically demolished the Greenback party, and told the colored people to have nothing to do with it. He said they (the negroes) knew nothing about finance, and that they should leave those kind of matters to white men. He said the negro should vote with the Republican party, but gave as the only reason why, that he did not think the negro knew the Democratic party well enough to trust it. He told two or three anecdotes in good style. I have not undertaken to quote his speech, but will simply say, take it all in all, he made an able and a man of no ordinary ability. There were many Democrats out to hear him, and all admired his speech and complimented his ability.

Messrs. Langley and Patterson, nominating to speak in this county for Gen. Cockrell to speak in this county for the coming times and places, viz:

Keytesville, October 30th, 1 p. m.
Salisbury, October 30th, at night.
Cunningham, October 31st, 1 p. m.
Brunswick, October 31st, at night.

All parties are respectfully invited to go out and hear him.

The "Line" schools are in full blast, conducted by Prof. Harvey, Fuggett and Mason.

Will Dalton returned home last week, after a visit of several days to friends in the Forks.

Chills and dusters have "caterpillared" for over-coats and pneumonia to take their place.

Mr. E. C. Locke, formerly a citizen of Chariton, but now living in Colorado, paid his sister, Mrs. B. E. Hays, a visit the first of the week.

The corn crop in the Forks is much shorter than was expected, but are sufficient to meet the demands as there is but few hogs to be fed this fall.

The protracted meeting that's been under progress for two or three weeks, is one in which the most intense interest has been taken. The crowd last Sunday was much larger than the house would hold; a house full and a yard full. There have been 20 addresses to the church, and the anxious seat full every meeting. May the good work continue in our midst.

Hon. Wm. L. Rucker, of Keytesville, paid us a pleasant visit the first of the week. [Rev. VanDeventer preaches at the Assembly chapel next Sunday, it being the 4th Sunday.]

Dr. L. R. and Mr. A. J. Perkins are both down with pneumonia, Salisbury, Shannon-dale, Forest Green and Glasgow were represented at our meeting Sunday.

Mr. Editor, with this issue I expect to close my career as your correspondent from the Forks. I am sorry that such measures have been brought to light, as to compel me to step down and off the stage of action, as your reporter from this section. During the past time I expect to remain among the good and noble people of grand old Chariton; (and especially the Forks) I will cheerfully and willingly continue to act as their servant in giving the news items from this section, could I do so without being placed under the sneers, ridicule, and ill-will of a goodly number in my own community. For the past three or four months, under the Nou de phane of "Jake," I have to the best of my ability filled the position I am now compelled to abandon.

If during that time I have said or done anything that has in the least offended any one, I beg their pardon, and say truthfully and candidly that it was not intentional. To my fellow correspondents from the different sections of Chariton county, I say, farewell; to "Luna C." farewell, to my most worthy friend at Dalton, I do my last and say, adieu. To the members of the Chariton office I stand thankful for the past favors, and may the Chariton continue to go on and on in its solid Democratic principles, and finally become one of the leading organs of the state. Respectfully, your most obedient servant,
C. B. FORD, alias JAKE.

From Triplet.

Some improvements going on in our city. A new blacksmith shop is now being erected and will soon be in full blast.

Mr. Wm. Alton, our clever railroad agent, is making some improvements on his premises and when finished will have a neat little residence.

Mr. Thos. Saunders has purchased a house from Esq. Triplett, which he will fit up for a family residence.

Dr. Smith builds a commodious smoke house.

The new Methodist parsonage will soon be under control.

We have a good school now, in charge of Mrs. Fisher, of Saline county, as principal, and Miss Rebecca Smith as assistant.

Our people are enjoying remarkably good health now.

Mr. John Grace's family left for Arkansas a few days since.

The National Labor Reform Absolute Greenbackers will preach for us to-night. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be damned." This text is taken either from Brick Pomeroy's Hot Drops, Hostetters Almanac, or Mark Twain's Innocence Abroad.

Salt Creek.

A distressing accident occurred here last Saturday evening. Rev. B. Ashley, with wife and daughter, were returning home from the molasses mills of J. W. Kelley when their molasses in the wagon, the team became frightened and ran away, upsetting the wagon and severely injuring Mrs. Ashley. Mr. Ashley and daughter were both slightly injured. It is feared that Mrs. Ashley is hurt internally.

I learned that another very distressing affair occurred at Bucklin, Lin county, in which Miss Susie Minch was so unfortunately as to lose her life. It is now Clinch W. Isle, O. what a pity, what a pity. F. Brinker and G. W. Isle have herded about 400 head of cattle in this neighborhood, this summer, which ate the grass so that the neighborhood cattle are forced to the corn fields for pasture, which is pretty hard to bear by the owners of said corn fields, and there is talk of putting a stop to the business of herding about here.

Tobacco crop is about one fourth the usual crop for this neighborhood. So much less for the sharks to steal.

The following rules will be enforced in settling the accounts of executors, administrators, curators &c., in order to insure attention to the interests of estates.

1. The highest legal rate of interest will be charged on the whole amount in their hands and the same will be compounded annually in case of failure to settle as the law requires.

2. Citations will be issued against all who fail to settle their accounts at the term when due, and in case of failure to answer the citation, when duly served, their letters will be revoked and the estate ordered to be sold to the hands of the Public Administrator.

3. In all cases where, by neglect or failure to attend to any official duty in the time and manner required by law, an additional expense is incurred upon the estate, the person or persons in charge of such estate will be accountable for the same.

4. All settlements must be accompanied by the affidavit of the administrator, guardian, or curator in each case, declaring the same to be a true copy of his or her account with such estate.
